The enemy of the cultural classes

Capitalist apostle, Michael Novak, believes that society is under attack and that welfare harms the poor.

When I suggested he was still fighting the cold war, Novak talked about the enemy within. The leaders of our culture, he said, are responsible for the ideas and symbols that permeate American society. He argued that the Left and the Right, with their policies, are not the true enemies of our society. The true enemy is the intellectual elite that promotes welfare and socialism.

But I think there is another enemy within that is just as dangerous as the Left and the Right. This enemy is the cultural elite that promotes welfare and socialism. This enemy is the intellectual elite that promotes welfare and socialism.

The cultural elite is the enemy that we must fight. They are the ones who are destroying our culture and our society. They are the ones who are promoting welfare and socialism. They are the ones who are destroying our society.

We must fight this enemy within. We must fight the cultural elite. We must fight against welfare and socialism. We must fight against the enemy within.
